FATALITIES AT JEFFERSONVILLE.-It was announced in the Journal this morning that a well known character from this city, name Miehnel Allen, bad been shot and killed at the Barnaby Saloou, In Jeffersouville, on Friday evening, by a man named Jenkius. We have additional particulars of the affray, from which it appears that three persons who were impli cated in the affair at the drinklug saloon have lost their lives. Allen had been en gaged in a quarrel with a man names Bloom, when a fight at once ensued, i which Allen eut Bloom with a knife, wounding him, it is thought, mortally, although Bloom was yet alive this morning. Soon af ter this affray the man Jenkins approached Allen, and, without other ceremony, shot and killed him. Jenkins immediately run up in the direction of the ship-yards, procurde a skiff and pulled for the tow-head, deserting the skiff on the Indiann side of the tow head, and making his way to the Keutneky side of the island. The ferrybont was brought into requisition, and, with an officer on board, started in pursuit. Hopling to elude his pursuers, Jenkins threw himsel into the water, keeping his head above the surface by holding on to the willows. He found his position untenable, however, and eried lustily for assistance, but before that assistance could be rendered he disappeared in the water and was drowned. The body was

WHEAT'S PHILOSOPHY OF SLAVERY. To the Editors of the Louisvill Journal;

Louisville, Feb. 6, 1863. DEAN SIRS: To regulate man's actions here DEAD SINS: To regulate man a actions here on earth, we should keep uppermost in mind, luring the nets of each day, the great minifest design of God in his order of creation. The interpretation of the great organic law governing organized matter, as we see each organized class in the mineral, vegetable, and animal kingdoms present itself to our understanding is associated in intelligible, when n the first chapter of Genesis, as to cach o anized particle of matter under the hea lass, producing its kind, species, or genu asy that lead out unted from zinc, quicksilver from antimony, gold from silver, &o.; or in the vegetable kingdom, we should say, that carn emanated from barley, rye, outs, or wheat, or either one of these from the other, &o.; or in the animal kingdom, we should that the autemanated from the common se fly, the mouse from the rat, &c.; or, le lescending lower in the creation, the sensitive plant from the polypus, or, in ascending, the common ape from the gorilla, &c. In these cases there is an difference of opinion among physiologists and ethnologists of the present lay, for we all, in these cases, exercise common reason and common sense, and do not eschew the principle that two and two make four, nor that black is black, white, is white,

These are the great organic principles to which we must adhere; and we err when we leviate from them, in any particular, in the exercise of our stewardship here below. We will now turn to the sacred page of Holy receive it as it reads, and as it appeals to com-mon sense and understanding for reception. This Holy Book is right; but man, through This Holy Book is right; but man, through many ages, has been wont to read that block is white, red is green, &c., upon which he has formed his opinions, judgment, habits, and customs for action and government. In these particular cases we see the filse philosophy into which man has run for the purpose of founding the rules for his government. In order to avert ultimate desiruction, we must resort to the great organic law which governs the Universe, for our guidance and government. When we on his heaven and earth, matter was in chaos here was no distinction of colors, of forms lealres, tastes, senses, habits, customs, nor o ver else we now hehold on the earth, i All matter then unorganized stood nlike related to matter; there was no disign; there was no purpose manifest. Who disputes this relation of matter before the creation? ('omnou sense, and this age of reason and penetra the drapery of creation is now lifted; and as God advances from the first verse of the first chapter of Genesis, in the order of his creation, to the 11th verse, we see the design of God manifested in each of his acts, just in such a manner as a distinguished physiologist would begin the construction of his imaginary world. There was design in God's making the heaven and the earth, light, dry hand, and seas, before he created the seeds which were to grow out of the earth. In the 11th verse we see a historic account on he creation of the seeds adapted to grow out of the earth. of the seeds adapted to grow out if the earth; u this verse (fod laid down : e great or-ganle law which was in all luture time to govern the seeds thus mentioned, and which was that each seed was to produce its kind; this shows their classifications, and that each class was to have affinity for its own in contradistinction to any other. No one questions this; and hence the organic law us far is consistent with man's notions of physiology and with the order of creation. There is no chance work about the sun, moon, ters, with all their colors, forms, desires, but-its, and customs, dividing them into chases, and making each chass bring forth its kind, as distinct from other classes. In the waters

ers. The saimon go by themselves; their mbits, colors, and forms are different from the shad or cod. Thus we see reason, though class by itself.

Consequently, each class, as in the classes of seeds, obeys the great organic haw as to prolucing its kind, though they live unclad in common waters seen, yet unseen as to produng classes different from that law laid down order of creation, were we to see organized forms of distinct classes, as a beech tree turning into a chestnut, a dog into n fox, barley into rye, &c. In all these cases, as with every touch of his workmanship. Therefore, in all his past workmanship, and still further on, he creates class upon class, making each dependent on the other, till he creates man, who depends on God himself. Hence we see the with reference to the other parts of the watch.

Thus it is, in the animate creation, we see mything to a watch without the wheels. Pherefore, we see that male and female, in any class of the inanimate and animate creation, are types of the same colors, desires, habits, nad customs, with opposite genital and nutritive organs only, for the purpose of procreation and nourishment. In the juaninte creation these organs are located in jux-position with each other, for they have no owers of locomotion; in this God manifested is design at the period of his creation. In the 22d verse of this chapter we see that God the 22d verse of this chapter we see that God was pleased with his workmaship, for be blessed what he had created, and des red their increase. In the 24th verse of the first chapter of Genesis, we see this: "And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and east of the earth after his kind; and it was so." In view of the organized beings or existences of whatever colors, shapes desires, mahits, and customs as mentioned in this verse, we see in the last clause of the 25th verse that.

in view of the 24th verse, how do we know the qualities of anything on earth except by analogy and comparison? We have seen the productive capacity of the term moving creature in the 20th verse, and we do ormer term must have produced the existences f colors and their nnalogies, to wit: the Mon-following is a list of wounded mon remaining to lace a higher estimate on man than on all se created; man is last of thegreat design of od's six days' workmanship. He rested on 184, 1833. God's six days' workmanship. He rested on the seventh day, and there is no account of his ever having renewed his work. As he created men in his image, after his likeness, did he not through dwign erente him alone to be immortal as he himself is immortal, with that splrit which he himself possesses? Let the philosopher reason before he responds, and look at the application of terms. We do not lose sight of this term, men, from the date of his creation of two to the present time, as given us in holy writ. We trace his history throughout the ase and accuracy as we trace in any com-ound substan e the ingredients which com-ose it, by the means of chemistry. There is a difficulty in this except we long, with per-ersences, to malireat common sense and our wn understandings. We believe not in conrom the creation down, we trace the ani-realized from the trace the anish of the waters through the term food, all the athered family, with their different colors, exircs, habits, and customs. Hence, through the term living creature, we truce the existences of color with all the lower classes down to the lowest of the ape family, on the same principle of reasoning and deduction. In the 28th verse of the first chapter of Genesls, we see this: "And God blessed them (that Is, the male and female created under the term man), and God said into them, be fruitful, and cruiand and remaic created under the term man, but God said unto them, be fruitful, and culply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fawl of the air, and over every ving thing that moveth upon the earth.

the terms used in this verse are unequivocal; the terms used in this verse are unequivocal; they mean what such like expressions signify in the English or Hebrew language, or they mean nothing altogether. Under these terms man has no choice. He must either accept them or live and die in the belief of Atheism.

the must multiply, and he must subdue the earth; there is no choice in this; dominion means anthority and control absolute; God gives man no choice in this over everything within the compass of his creation in the waters, in the air, and on the earth. Hence all organized matter, whether in the mineral, vegetable, or animal kingdoms, is subject to man from the above verse, and hence the stavery of interior races, through resembling man's form, is of Divine origin, if we do not discredit this look of Moses.

As collateral evidence of our position being correct, in the first chapter of Genesis, we will ite the fourth chapter of the same book. In he first verse, Adam knew Evc his wife, and the first verse, Adam knew Eve his wife, and she conceived and bare Cain; in the second verse we see that she again hare his brother Abel. There is no historic account of their having another child till the birth of Seth, and we cannot hut believe that such no event nt that period would have been a matter of history. In the 8th verse we see that Caia slew Abel in the 11th representations. land of Nod was then on the cast of Eden, toward the land where either the Mongolian or Malay race lived. The 17th verse says: "And Cain knew his wife, and she conceived and bare Enoch, and he huilded a city. and called the name of the city after the name of his son Enoch." The 24th verse closes an ccount of Cain and the inhabitants of the land f Nod. Seth is born when Adam is one hun-of Nod. Seth is born when Adam is one fundered and thirty years old, and then he and Eve began to have sons and daughters; see the 3d and 4th verses of the 5th chapter of Genesis. How could Unin have got a wife and bullt a city, if the inhabitants of the land of Nod had not anterlated Adam and Eve In the creation, as mentioned by us in the 24th verse of the first chapter of Genesis? This is a full tacks and inroads of fanaticism, superstition, and prejudice, that we may see clearly and intelligibly how to anchor the great ship, in which we are all stilling apparently to destruction but no learness.

In compliance with orders for "the troops of his command to move down the river," a bet of twelve steamers loosed from their steamed up the river, at proper distance from each other, to "right about," and with stirring music from the hruss band, the old nutional flag waved a farewell to Memphis. The Generals were on board the Platte Vulley, which took the lead, the Maria Denning, Jennie Down Dilison, and either Chemical States. Dean, Diligent, and others, following. It was a proud sight to behold, and hecume even mastic, when we contemplate its probable des-ny (Vicksburg), and its design, to reduce I take that Scoastopol of America! MeAr-

McPherson's forces arrive.

The fleet is laden to the water's edge with troops and supplies. Most of the boats are literally packed from "stem to stern" with men and beasts, depriving both of ease or confort. Bat, fortunately for us, two companies of the lift Wisconsius only were admitted on board the Diligent! She is not a boat for tourage, but was built for a speedy passenger packet.
Though loaded so ber guards touch the water's eage, she has this evening given ample proof of her ability, with her present corps of offiers, to compete in speed with any steamers of the fleet. We have had a most delightful passinge down the river. Nothing has occurred to reuder our passage anything other than a pleasure trip, save one of the hands was drowned last 'night. The captain, clerk, and crew are truly geutlemen, and have tendered us every comfort we could ask. If Capt. Ahe McDugal does not furnish a table loaded with the richest luxuries of properous and peaces. the richest luxuries of prosperous and peacea-able times, we can attest that such as he had he set before as freely, and it was (in his own language) clean, and the bedding nent. We are now, together with the whole down river fleet, anchored on the Louisiana shore, opposite the mouth of the Yazoo, better known as Young's Point. The St. Louis, of our fleet, was fired into yesterday, doing no serious damnge, save the shots passing through the wheelhouse without affecting life or limb. We learn that a small fleet of the iron-clad have gone up the Yazoo to-day to see if there are any of the same scaly tribe there, and we hope to save any "Arkansas" the trouble of passing this wooden fleet, lining the shore for

Gen, McArthur, on the Platte Valley, in his effort to report to Geu. McClernand, as per order, went down the river in full sight of Vicksburg and returned, not finding General McClernaud.

We are now within twelve miles by river and seven by land of the city. The troops as yet are all kept on board the boats. An expedition went down to-day to open the ditch that Gen. Butler began.

We are pained to learn that Col. Stewart, of the 15th Illinois Cavalry and chief of Me-Cleraand's staff, was killed to-day in the effort.

Seeech of Gen. Wood .- At a dinner given to General Wool on Friday night, responding to the toast "The Army and Navy of the United States," he rose, amid a storm of cheers, and said he knew more about fighting than he did about making a speech. He thanked the 37th regiment and their gallant leader for the honor they had conferred on him. He would say a few words more. He the whole country. No compromise, no separation, an line of demarcation; and to preserve that Union inviolate he was willing to sacrifice all he possessed. The wretched straits that the rebels are put to for fighting-men are evident from the fact that they have resorted to a third conof 45 and 55, Jeff Davis having proclaimed that the maintenance of the Confederacy de pends upon the ruising of seventy-five or a hundred thousand fresh recruits within the next few weeks. The rebel President said "the next two wonths," und this was said some weeks ago.

Now no one, who understands the subject at all, can suppose it possible for the new conscription of old men to furnish seventy-five or s hundred thousand men or anything like that number. From 45 to 55 is old age in the South; indeed pretty old age anywhere. The two first Southern conscriptions having exbausted the class of young men and the class of middle-aged men, the rebels themselve cannot and do not expect much from thele conscription of a class regarded in all countries as past military duty. Even among the rehel conscripts between the ages of 18 and 35 and those between the ages of 35 and 45 there were, as there must always he, an causes, the number having amounted in th South, according to our recollection, to mor than a third of the whole. Of course the pro portion of exempts among men between th ages of 45 and 55 must, tor obvious reason be twice as great, that is, more than two third It can scarcely fall short of three fourths. An the old fellows composing the other fourth, com pelled to all the hard endurances by which th younger and hardier classes have been carrie to the hospital and the grave in almost count less numbers, will inevitably succumb the first month of service. Tho hardships of the troops on the Federal side are great, very great, but on the rebel side they are terrible The rebel conscription No. 3 will bring deatl to the old men gnthered in by it as certainl as the order of King Ilcrod caused the slaying of the habios "in Bethlehem and all the coast thereof." The old chaps will be sacrifice without the least benefit to the cause of the re bellion. But no doubt the rebel authoritie think that such old codgers would soon di auvhow. "Do you want to live forever, vo old fools?" exclaimed a celebrated militar; leader to a veteran regiment that hesitated t go to certain death. The fact is, the rebels have no further availuble resources in either men or money. They must rely solely upon the men they have in the service, and rely upon their fighting without money. And those men are rapidly disappearing by battle, more rapidly by pestilence and destitution, and more rapidly still stantly losing its material strength with suggestions of peace except upon the hasis of a restored Union and all the authors and la- come where we are, and we shouldn't like to features which were most obnoxious to the Border slave States, and permitted recruiting to be carried on in all the States, were stricken out, and those parts of the Union were ex-mation of the first of January. This bill in its original shape was virtually an emancipa-tion scheme, for it guaranteed freedom to every slave who should enlist, and authorized the opening of recruiting rendezvous in the midst of our slave population, inviting them to escape from their service. We will not charge that this course of legislation was directed by a spirit of malignity toward the Border States, which have felt themselves compelled to oppose the policy of the Aduinistration in many particulars, but it s undeniable that much unfairness and misrepresentation were developed in the course of the protracted debate which ensued upon the hill. The Republican leaders cannot appreciate the position of Kentucky and the EASTERN KENTUCKY .- We have stated heretofore that several of the counties of Northeast ern Kentucky were overrnn by rebel guerillas. Mr. John Miller, the Jailer of Bath county, Ky., arrived in Lexington on Friday. He informs the Observer and Reporter that great trouble and suffering exists in Owingsville and vicinity, owing to the depredations which in the last week or so have been perpetrated by Humphrey Murshall's command. Their camp is but twenty-one miles from Owingsville, in the mountains, and whenever their necessities require it, they make a descent upou the town and vicinity-supply themselved with such articles as they want, so far as they can be found, and return. Mr. Miller states that about two hundred and fifty of these men entered Owingsville at n late hour on Sunday night, the 1st inst., stripped two boot and shoe stores completely-even taking baly shoes—then entered a dry goods house, from which they took all the cotton cloth, women's shoes, and other articles. They then gathered Redhorse of a coat, hat, and a whip. Held all the quilts in the neighborhood and all the sacks that could be found for the purpose of carrying off their plunder. They also took out one hundred of the best horses in the vicinity. These bands are growing worse and more savage in their deportment daily; and it is now almost impossible for a I'nion man to hank not in existence with intent to pass the live in Owingsville or vicinity. About the first of last week they murdered three men, two by the namo of Jenkins-father and son -and a puroled soldier of the Second Uhio regiment by the name of Yarber. After shooting these men, to make snre of their death they stubbed them through the body with bowie knives. Nearly all the Union men of Owingsville have had to fly for safety. Mr. Miller lett himself, barefooted, with others, on a cold night, in the same condition, and in consequence had his feet frosted. He left a number of the refugees at Mount Sterling. The guerillas had a few days since a son of Colonel Suddnth who was recently brutally murdered, as a captive, but Inckily he made Temple for the term of a month. At the time his escape. Mr. Gill, the proprietor of the of its recent visit to this city this troupe num-Olympian Springs, had to fly for his life. The bered among its members many accomplished robberies perpetrated by the guerillus so far performers, and we are informed that mnny have been confined to Union men. He thinks if a small force could be sent to Olympian Springs these maranders could be checked or kept back in their mountain passes. So many men have joined the army from that section of the country that there are not now enough left to form a Home Guard that would be of 3T L. T. When I was a boy fathers and mothers did not seem so very willing, as they appear to be in these days, to let their girls marry. I sup-pose the reason was they were more useful pose the reason was they were more assert then than now; the girls of the present day being rather expensive commodities. It took heing rather expensive commodities. It took then six to seven yards to make a dress; now they go it from twenty-one to fity-nine and a half yards, and not more than half dressed all that. The musical instruments, big and little, did not require melodeon attachments, nor double pedais. A single foot, with a flat heal and broad tread, was the best attachment for little wheel. A quick step and muscular a little wheel. A quick step and muscular arm were the only requirements for the big one. There were no troubles over the double demisemi-quavers, crotchets, altos, and sopranos, but the tones were all natural, and the instruing of father and mother and all the lesser kindred. This is in accordance with ualure, to get the authority, as old juiler Morrison, of N—, used to say, "by trick or trap."

Morrison was very fond of seeing young people made happy, and said he never could sleep when he knew there was a runaway comple in town until he knew they had legally, the right to stay in the same room at the tuvern, as the poor young girls were always so much afraid to stay by themselves in ways so much afraid to stay by themselves in a strange house.

On one occasion there came riding up to the old laveru, near the ferry, a young man, about twenty-two or three, and a nice young girl not over sixteen—a maiden annt of no puricular age, and a friend of the young man bearing them company. They had hardly been seated hefore Morrison had the young man cornered and let him know that he understood what was ont. The young man confessed the trouble and implored his and. They had come all the Way from Western Pennsylvania, and had tried for license at every county town on both sides of the Ohio, but could not get license because of the girl's age and not having her parent's consent.

Ing her parent's consent.

The idea of getting the documents by any circumlocation never entered the heads of the party. Their hope was in finding a clerk who would selve a consisions or white where the party. Their hope was in finding a clerk who would ask no questions, or is place where the law was not so rigid about age.

M——— told the young man to go to the clerk, ask for ficense bobilly, and when he asked for consent of the parent or age of the intended, just tell him to hold on and he would be intended, just tell him to hold on and he would be intended.

did not like the young man.

There was couxing and begging and crying and threatening, but the old man held out.
The old hely gave in after the first skirmishing was made; but the old man still hung out.
The young hely left her home and went to a neighbors, declaring she would marry her cousin, neck or nought.

An old bachelor who lived at the house she went to became amhassador and minister plen-ipotentinry. He uegotialed, finessed, manon-vred, importuned, beseched, cursed, and cut up at the old man to get him to consent and let the clerk issue license. The father would sometimes get angry, and say he did not care what the clerk did, and then the old backelor would off to the clerk. Buthe was inflexible; the father must send his consent in writing, or come and give it in person.

or come and give it in person. Despair of success was about to set the young couple to running to some other State, when a brollier of the father came to town. He was made acquainted with the state of the contest. made acquainted with the state of the contest, and said that his brother ought to yield, and went and talked to him about it. The father got angry and said many things, and amongst chant that he did not care what the clerk did, the finance bill. The views of the House Committee of Ways and Means are also drilly committee of Ways and Means are also drilly committee of Ways and Ways and couple did. Upon these declarations, the much went off to the clerk's office, walked up to the clerk's table, and said: "I give my consent that license issue for the marriage of M—— with T—— S——," and out he went. The clerk issued the license and gave it to the old backelor, who was on hand and in a little to the clerk issued the license and gave it to the old backelor, who was on hand and in a little to the clerk issued the license and gave it to the old backelor, who was on hand and in a little to the clerk issued the license and gave it to the old backelor, who was on hand and in a little to the clerk issued the license and gave it to the old backelor, who was on hand and in a little to the old backelor who was on hand and in a little to the old backelor. The clerk issued the license and gave it to the old bachelor, who was on hand, and in a little while the young couple were married.

When the father heard of the marriage, he went to the clerk's effect and demands. while the young congle were married.

When the father heard of the marringe, he went to the clerk's office and demanded to know by what authority the clerk issued the license. The clerk told him he was a fool; that he had issued it by his direction. He de-nied. The clerk affrmed, and there had like to have been a fight upon the strength of it.

The one who gave consent was a twin brother of the girl's father, and so much like him that one was often taken for the other.

The couple live yet at N——. They lived bappily and lovingly, as far as I have ever beard.

l once got on a boat at Portland to go to Vicksburg. It was dark when I went on her, and she went directly over to New Albany to take on a lot of freight. As soon as she landed, out went three or four couple, and up landed, out went three or four couple, and up into Albany. In an hour or two they came back and went on into the ladies' cubin. It was soon whispered round that there was no marriage, the party not being able to get license, the law of Indiana having been charged, making a residence necessary for those noder 21 years, or something of that sort.

There were no trobless over the dollars a time for semi-quavers, crotchets, altos, and soprinos, but the tones were all natural, and the instruments never required five dollars a time for tuning.

These things, however, are not in as direct connection with marrying as cierks, parsons, habies, and rocking instruments. But speaking of babies reminds me of the text, that fathers and mothers did not seem so willing for their girls to mary in an early day as they do now.

It was not so easy either for the young folks to get license to marry, or to get away from home to where they issued license. But it has always been the care, since I could remember, if a leminine look a liking to a male nan they will cleave unto him, even to the lorsaking of father and mother and all the lesser
